Counting & Learning Booklist
June 2019

Start a love of reading, one book at a time!

Monthly Activity
Build your child's math understanding by trying the activity below:

1. Make a game of counting similar objects, such as apples, toys, or trees, with your little one in the grocery store, in the car, or at home.

2. Start by asking your child to see how many of a certain kind of item they see.

3. Point to each object and count with your child so they learn that each number represents an object.

Here is a great way to start:

How many cereal boxes do you see? Let's count together! There is one cereal box...

Retell
After reading a story, have your child tell the story in their own words or by using the pictures to guide their ideas.

An early learning collaboration by: