Celebrations, Traditions, and Family

PRESENTING

READING TIP: CELEBRATE CULTURES

To encourage young children in learning about new traditions and cultural celebrations, connect them to stories and books that feature people or other children that come from those communities. This will help them develop respect and appreciation for various cultures. If possible, seek out opportunities to take children to local cultural events like those seen in the stories you read together.

An early learning collaboration by: